

Fire Protection Technology

FPT three-year course rotation

Classes available in Omaha at the Peter Kiewit Institute

Fall Semester 2004

		Instructor
FPT 1100	Principles of Fire Protection ¹	Schmadeke
FPT 1510	Hazardous Materials Management	Wright
FPT 2190	Fire Protection Equipment	Rohan
Elective	Required Humanities/Social Science elective

Spring Semester 2005

		Instructor
FPT 1100	Principles of Fire Protection ¹	Schmadeke
FPT 2200	Fire Codes and Inspections	Rohlfing
FPT 2990	Fire Service Research	Fuxa
CET 2900	Electrical Systems for Buildings	Haggin
Math 1320	College Algebra	Staff

Fall Semester 2005

		Instructor
FPT 1100	Principles of Fire Protection ¹	Schmadeke
FPT 2100	Municipal Fire Administration	Fuxa
FPT 2210	Hydraulics and Pumping Applications	Loll
CET 1270	Introduction to Construction	Pedersen

Spring Semester 2006

		Instructor
FPT 1100	Principles of Fire Protection ¹	Schmadeke
FPT 2310	Fire Protection Systems	Wright
FPT 2320	Firefighter Health and Welfare	Clark
CET 1250	Construction Drawing	Holmes

Fall Semester 2006

		Instructor
FPT 1100	Principles of Fire Protection ¹	Schmadeke
FPT 2410	Fire Strategy and Tactics	Rohlfing
FPT 2520	General Insurance	Fuxa
GET 2140	Technical Writing	Staff

Spring Semester 2007

		Instructor
FPT 1100	Principles of Fire Protection ¹	Schmadeke
FPT 1600	Fire Chemistry	DeBoer/Rohan
FPT 2300	Fire Investigation	McCormick
CET 2250	Computational Analysis	Holmes

Note:

Speech 1110, English 1160, Math 1320 and the Humanities/Social Sciences Elective are not offered on a two-night repetitive schedule. These requirements can also be met by taking UNL College Independent Study courses.

Call: (402) 472-0400

e-mail: unlextended@unl.edu or visit independentstudy.unl.edu for more information.

FPT students may take these courses at any time during the schedule offered by the appropriate department or college.

¹FPT 1100 Principles of Fire Protection is an introductory course to the FPT program and will be scheduled annually or biannually depending on enrollment demand.

UNIVERSITY OF Nebraska
Lincoln

EXTENDED EDUCATION & OUTREACH
COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING & TECHNOLOGY

©2004 Board of Regents. The University of Nebraska is an affirmative action/equal opportunity institution.